

Module One Description

Take control of your life instead of letting others do it for you. From the moment that you totally manage your life, all changes become possible.

We try to be in charge of our destiny even though it doesn't happen very often.

Most of the time we are not aware of how or where we act from. Is it our own will or are we following the directions of pendulums (collective magnetic fields)?

A person is happy when following their own way, when the mind and soul are in agreement with what is taking place in life, in this case all is possible.

The program "Life Management" will show you which attitudes and actions will lead you to the wanted results. It will help you to have a new vision of the world, a new way of life.

If you now. Like to achieve this new reality, where you receive what you intend to have, if you propose to be a lucky person, Welcome to the program Transurfing Life Management.

This Module will bring you:

- Knowledge of efficient methods of influencing reality.
- How to make conscious choices when taking decisions.
- Awareness of a pendulum's influence and the part it wants you to play.
